

Query 1

On April 13, Belgian churches will read a pastoral letter addressing the Brussels Expo. The Church will participate, showcasing its mission and work. This event offers a peaceful meeting of cultures and ideas, aiming to promote global harmony. Despite technological advancements, humanity faces challenges like poverty and environmental concerns. The [...]

The CDU holds its first major gathering post-elections. Discussions focus on leadership elections and academic debates on German politics, without addressing internal divisions or key domestic issues.

The SPD calls for unity, supporting Schmidt's government program and maintaining FDP coalition. It emphasizes open discussion on energy policy, prioritizing coal and promoting alternatives. The party supports current export policies and opposes submarine sales to Chile. Swiss unemployment rose 40.3% to 8,815 in January.

The text discusses the consequences of nationalism and ethnic fragmentation in conflicts like those in Bosnia and the broader risks of nuclear arms proliferation. It highlights how words can incite violence and emphasizes the importance of tolerance.

In Kaiseraugst, no approval for KKW construction yet; canton cannot revoke approval. Legal challenges likely due to protection laws. Ritschard discusses energy needs, oil vs. electricity consumption trends, and public awareness.

Query 2

Before February 18, 1979, votes: Swiss Farmers' Union opposes nuclear initiative, citing unclear terms. Christian Trade Unions allow free vote on nuclear and anti-dependency ads initiatives. Machine manufacturers oppose nuclear initiative, fearing energy policy restrictions. Non-smokers support initiative against tobacco advertising.

The German press strongly opposes the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, fearing it could strengthen a European status quo they dislike. Influential groups use sensational headlines to alarm public opinion, seeking justification for demanding excessive guarantees. Despite this, some politicians aim to calm fears, warning against economic dependency on nuclear powers.

CINEMA: An Iranian director tells her story from prison. AGYEXPO: The general council approves a reduced credit. BIERE: Gunter Nistler becomes the new head of Cardinal. MARSENS: School building construction postponed. NUCLEAR: What to do with nuclear waste? MOUDON: Circus [...]

The Belgian mining union FGTB regrets Charleroi court's acquittal of those accused of negligence in the 1956 Marcinelle mine disaster, fearing it shifts blame from the 262 dead miners. The union appealed the verdict. Morocco's UMT labor federation has 600,000 members, training leaders and visiting abroad to expand perspectives. Free [...]

Greek government requisitions air controllers. Angola demands U.S. halt aid to armed opposition before Cuban forces withdrawal. British plutonium missing, enough for 400 nuclear warheads. Germany reduces taxes. U.S. Air Force fined $140,000 for radioactive spill. Strikes in Serbia disrupt transportation. Israel releases 89 Palestinian prisoners. Judge Michel's killers: François [...]

Query 3

The electricity lobby, Bundesrat, and various groups influence Swiss energy policy. Critics argue this undermines democratic processes. Recent meetings with industry groups sparked less public outcry than similar discussions with other organizations.

The text provides a detailed schedule of films showing at various locations in Switzerland, including dates, times, directors, and ratings. It also lists cultural events, museums, and libraries with opening hours and contact information.

The Freiburg State Council discussed Mühleberg nuclear safety, criticized secrecy by Mühleberg plant, and debated public information protocols post-incident. Demonstrators' rights to protest were emphasized.

The Fédé des sociétés de jeunesse's festival in Bernex was a great success despite a workers' strike. The event featured youth from various regions, showcasing health and optimism. Decorations and performances by Cadets and other groups added to the celebration. Prizes were awarded for shooting and chariot competitions. The day [...]

Transfuges from East Germany are presented as traitors by Walter Ulbricht, who accuses West German authorities of preparing for war. Ulbricht's provocations include accusing West Germany of planning nuclear attacks and seizing maps from Allied officers.

Query 4

The official summary shows results from recent elections in Geneva. Socialists gained 3 seats, independents 3, radicals lost 1, and others had losses. The Socialist list won in both Rive Droite and Ville. The article discusses shifts in political power, noting gains for left-wing parties and losses for conservative ones. [...]

Spain: Thousands protested in Barcelona for closing a nuclear plant near Tarragona. South Africa: ANC leaders criticized Bantustans at a protest in Umtata. Colombia: Twelve people died in recent violence. South Korea: Violent clashes with police injured dozens in Seoul. Kurdistan: Separatists killed 21, mostly women and children, in eastern [...]

Before February 18, 1979, votes: Swiss Farmers' Union opposes nuclear initiative, citing unclear terms. Christian Trade Unions allow free vote on nuclear and anti-dependency ads initiatives. Machine manufacturers oppose nuclear initiative, fearing energy policy restrictions. Non-smokers support initiative against tobacco advertising.

The article discusses various events and meetings, including a Geneva anti-tuberculosis league communication, a film about African fauna, and meetings for syndicates and political parties. It also covers a peace initiative vote, with concerns about communist influence and support for nuclear disarmament. Additionally, it mentions a poetry award ceremony and [...]

Agitation among Italian teachers led to physical confrontations with police at schools in Catania and other Italian cities. Teachers protested against government-mandated exams despite boycotts by examiners. Walter Scheel urged party unity at the Liberal Democratic Party's annual congress. A low-power nuclear device was tested over French Polynesia. The body [...]

Query 5

The text contains various event announcements, movie screenings, and rental information for Tifers, Freiburg, and surrounding areas. Key events include film screenings like "Metropolis" and "Indiana Jones," matchballs, and courses for practical skills like welding and CNC machining.

The document provides a detailed schedule of movie screenings at various cinemas in Neuchâtel, Switzerland, along with information on local services and attractions.

Before February 18, 1979, votes: Swiss Farmers' Union opposes nuclear initiative, citing unclear terms. Christian Trade Unions allow free vote on nuclear and anti-dependency ads initiatives. Machine manufacturers oppose nuclear initiative, fearing energy policy restrictions. Non-smokers support initiative against tobacco advertising.

The text discusses the consequences of nationalism and ethnic fragmentation in conflicts like those in Bosnia and the broader risks of nuclear arms proliferation. It highlights how words can incite violence and emphasizes the importance of tolerance.

The text provides a detailed schedule of films, events, and services in Neuchâtel, including cinema showtimes, cultural activities, medical services, and community resources. It covers various locations and facilities offering art exhibitions, music performances, and educational visits.